A Day for Ethnography of South Asia

23rd September 2022, 10.30 am - 6.15 pm

UZH, Karl Schmid-Strasse 4, 8006 Zürich, Room KO2-G-275 & Riffraff Kino/Bar

We cordially invite everyone to join us for A Day for Ethnography of South Asia. This event will be an occasion for scholars who are based in Switzerland and work ethnographically in and on South Asia to further connect and get to know each other. We hope to encourage new connections within existing hubs and networks as well as foster further exchange, collaboration, and interdisciplinary circulation of ideas within the academic communities of South Asianists in Switzerland. We welcome all who would like to join! Funding from the UZH Graduate Campus is gratefully acknowledged.

Program*

10.00 Coffee & Welcome

10.30 Objects & Introductions

11.30 Lunch

13.00 Reflecting on Teaching and Writing South Asia

15.00 Coffee & Wrap-Up Discussion

16.30 Natari Screening & Discussion with Director, Jawad Sharif & Producer Syeda Kashmala

*All events will be held at UZH (KO2-G-275) EXCEPT the film screening, which will take place at Riffraff Kino/Bar (Screen 4, Neugasse 57-63, 8005 Zürich)

Jawad Sharif is an award-winning filmmaker who works on culturally sensitive film projects about human rights, social injustice, arts, and culture. Weaving compelling visuals and narratives, Sharif's work focuses on the interface between the dominant culture in Pakistan and its larger impacts on people, society and the environment. Syeda Kashmala is an award-winning film producer known for her strong record of public engagement through films such as Natari, The Losing Side, and Craft Traditions of Pakistan.

Natari tells the story of the conflict caused by climate migration and its impact on local communities and families such as that of fisherman and political activist Ayoub Sehto in the Indus Delta region.

To register your attendance, please contact lindsay.vogt@uzh.ch, banhishikha.ghosh@uzh.ch, or stefan.binder@isek.uzh.ch. Transportation costs will be reimbursed for Switzerland-based PhD students and postdocs who attend the full-day program.
